NEWS AND VIEWS

REMEMBRANCE SUNDAY

Issue No 643 November 2020

The Royal British Legion Lostock Hall announced the following via Facebook on 7th October.

"It is with deep sadness, but totally understandable that the Remembrance Parade and Festival of Remembrance can not go ahead in Lostock Hall this year.

However, the branch committee are looking into various ways that we can all still pay our respects and also raise funds for the Poppy Appeal.

It would be great if people could display poppies, posters, children's drawings etc in house, shop and business windows.

We hope that the whole village will once again, as you do fantastically every year, take part and help us celebrate our serving armed forces and remember those who have paid the ultimate sacrifice.

Fratelli tutti' – Short Summary

Fratelli tutti' is the title Pope Francis has chosen for his encyclical letter dedicated to "human fraternity" and "social friendship".

Fraternity and social friendship are the ways the Pontiff indicates to build a better, more just and peaceful world, with the contribution of all: people and institutions. With an emphatic confirmation of a 'no' to war and to globalized indifference.

What are the great ideals but also the tangible ways to advance for those who wish to build a more just and fraternal world in their ordinary relationships, in social life, politics and institutions? This is mainly the question that Fratelli tutti is intended to answer: the Pope describes it as a "Social Encyclical" (6) which borrows the title of the "Admonitions" of Saint Francis of Assisi, who used these words to "address his brothers and sisters and proposed to them a way of life marked by the flavour of the Gospel" (Par 1). The Encyclical aims to promote a universal aspiration toward fraternity and social friendship. In the background of the Encyclical is the Covid-19 pandemic which, Francis reveals, "unexpectedly erupted" as he "was writing this letter". But the global health emergency has helped demonstrate that "no one can face life in isolation" and that the time has truly come to "dream, then, as a single human family" in which we are "brothers and sisters all" (Par 8).

Chapter One: dark clouds cover the world

In the first of eight chapters, which is entitled "Dark Clouds over a Closed World", the document reflects on the many distortions of the contemporary era: the manipulation and deformation of concepts such as democracy, freedom, justice; the loss of the meaning of the social community and history; selfishness and indifference toward the common good; the prevalence of a market logic based on profit and the culture of waste; unemployment, racism, poverty; the disparity of rights and its aberrations such as slavery, trafficking, women subjugated and then forced to abort, organ trafficking (see Par 10-24). It deals with global problems that call for global actions, emphasizes the Pope, also sounding the alarm against a "culture of walls" that favours the proliferation of organized crime, fuelled by fear and loneliness (see Par 27-28).

Chapter Two: strangers on the road

To many shadows, however, the Encyclical responds with a luminous example, a herald of hope: the Good Samaritan. The second chapter, "A stranger on the road", is dedicated to this figure. In it, the Pope emphasizes that, in an unhealthy society that turns its back on suffering and that is “illiterate” in caring for the frail and vulnerable (see Par 64-65), we are all called – just like the Good Samaritan – to become neighbours to others (see Par 81), overcoming prejudices, personal interests, historic and cultural barriers. We all, in fact, are co-responsible in creating a society that is able to include, integrate and lift up those who have fallen or are suffering (see Par 77). Love builds bridges and “we were made for love” (Par 88), the Pope adds, particularly exhorting Christians to recognize Christ in the face of every excluded person (see Par 85).

Chapter Three: vision of an open world

The principle of the capacity to love according to “a universal dimension” (see Par 83) is also resumed in the third chapter, “Envisaging and engendering an open world”. In this chapter Francis exhorts us to go “‘outside’ the self” in order to find “a fuller existence in another” (Par 88), opening ourselves up to the other according to the dynamism of charity which makes us tend toward “universal fulfilment” (Par 95). In the background – the Encyclical recalls – the spiritual stature of a person’s life is measured by love, which always “takes first place” and leads us to seek better for the life of the other, far from all selfishness (Par 92-93). The sense of solidarity and of fraternity begin within the family, which are to be safeguarded and respected in their “primary and vital mission of education” (Par 114). The right to live with dignity cannot be denied to anyone, the Pope again affirms, and since rights have no borders, no one can remain excluded, regardless of where they are born (see Par 121) In this perspective the Pontiff also calls us to consider “an ethics of international relations” (see Par 126), because every country also belongs to foreigners and the goods of the territory cannot be denied to those who are in need and come from another place. Thus, the natural right to private property will be secondary to the principal of the universal destination of created goods (see Par 120). The Encyclical also places specific emphasis on the issue of foreign debt: subject to the principal that it must be paid, it is hoped nonetheless that this does not compromise the growth and subsistence of the poorest countries (see Par 126).

Chapter Four: heart open to the world

To the theme of migration, the latter, entitled “A heart open to the whole world”. With their lives “at stake” (Par 37), fleeing from war, persecution, natural catastrophes, unscrupulous trafficking, ripped from their communities of origin, migrants are to be welcomed, protected, supported and integrated. Unnecessary migration needs to be avoided, the Pontiff affirms, by creating concrete opportunities live with dignity in the countries of origin. But at the same time, we need to respect the right to seek a better life elsewhere. In receiving countries, the right balance will be between the protection of citizens' rights and the guarantee of welcome and assistance for migrants (see Par 38-40). Specifically, the Pope points to several "indispensable steps, especially in response to those who are fleeing grave humanitarian crises": to increase and simplify the granting of visas; to open humanitarian corridors; to assure lodging, security and essential services; to offer opportunities for employment and training; to favour family reunification; to protect minors; to guarantee religious freedom. What is needed above all – the document reads – is global governance, an international collaboration for migration which implements long-term planning, going beyond single emergencies, on behalf of the supportive development of all peoples (see Par 129-132).

Chapter Five: better politics

The theme of the fifth chapter is "A better kind of politics", which represents one of the most valuable forms of charity because it is placed at the service of the common good (see Par 180) and recognizes the importance of people, understood as an open category, available for discussion and dialogue (see Par 160). This is the populism indicated by Francis, which counters that "populism" which ignores the legitimacy of the notion of "people", by attracting consensus in order to exploit them for its own service and fomenting selfishness in order to increase its own popularity (see Par 159). But a better politics is also one that protects work, an "essential dimension of social life". The best strategy against poverty, the Pontiff explains, does not simply aim to contain or render indigents inoffensive, but to promote them in the perspective of solidarity and subsidiarity (see Par 187). The task of politics, moreover, is to find a solution to all that attacks fundamental human rights, such as social exclusion; the marketing of organs, tissues, weapons and drugs; sexual exploitation; slave labour; terrorism and organized crime. The Pope makes an emphatic appeal to definitively eliminate human trafficking, a "source of shame for humanity", and hunger, which is "criminal" because food is "an inalienable right" (Par 188-189).

The politics we need, Francis also underscores, is a politics centred on human dignity and not subjected to finance because "the marketplace, by itself, cannot resolve every problem": the "havoc" wreaked by financial speculation has demonstrated this (see Par 168). Hence, popular movements have taken on particular relevance: as true "torrents of moral energy", they must be engaged in society with greater coordination. In this way – the Pope states – it will be possible to go beyond a Policy “with” and “of” the poor (see Par 169). Another hope present in the Encyclical regards the reform of the UN: in the face of the predominance of the economic dimension, a task of the United Nations will be to give substance to the concept of a “family of nations” working for the common good, the eradication of poverty and the protection of human rights. Tireless recourse “to negotiation, mediation and arbitration” – the Papal Document states – the UN must promote the force of law rather than the law of force (see Par 173-175).

Chapter Six: dialogue and friendship

From the sixth chapter, “Dialogue and friendship in society”, further emerges the concept of life as the “art of encounter” with everyone, even with the world’s peripheries and with original peoples, because “each of us can learn something from others. No one is useless and no one is expendable” (see Par 215). Then, of particular note, is the Pope’s reference to the miracle of “kindness”, an attitude to be recovered because it is a star “shining in the midst of darkness” and “frees us from the cruelty ... the anxiety ... the frantic flurry of activity” that prevail in the contemporary era (see Par 222-224).

Chapter Seven: renewed encounter

The value and promotion of peace is reflected on in the seventh chapter, “Paths of renewed encounter”, in which the Pope underlines that peace is connected to truth, justice and mercy. Far from the desire for vengeance, it is “proactive” and aims at forming a society based on service to others and on the pursuit of reconciliation and mutual development (see Par 227-229). Thus, peace is an “art” that involves and regards everyone and in which each one must do his or her part in “a never-ending task” (see Par 227-232). Forgiveness is linked to peace: we must love everyone, without exception – the Encyclical reads – but loving an oppressor means helping him to change and not allowing him to continue oppressing his neighbour (see Par 241-242). Forgiveness does not mean impunity, but rather, justice and remembrance, because to forgive does not mean to forget, but to renounce the destructive power of evil and the desire for revenge. Never forget “horrors” like the Shoah, the atomic bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, persecutions and ethnic massacres – exhorts the Pope. They must be remembered always, anew, so as not to become anaesthetized and to keep the flame of collective conscience alive. It is just as important to remember the good (see Par 246-252).

“Just War”

Part of the seventh chapter, then, focuses on war: “a constant threat”, that represents “the negation of all rights”, “a failure of politics and of humanity”, and “a stinging defeat before the forces of evil”. Moreover, due to nuclear chemical and biological weapons that strike many innocent civilians, today we can no longer think, as in the past, of the possibility of a “just war”, but we must vehemently reaffirm: “Never again war!” The total elimination of nuclear arms is “a moral and humanitarian imperative”. With the money invested in weapons, the Pope suggests instead the establishment of a global fund for the elimination of hunger (see Par 255-262).

Death penalty

Francis expresses just as clearly a position with regard to the death penalty: it is inadmissible and must be abolished worldwide. Not even a murderer loses his personal dignity” – the Pope writes – “and God himself pledges to guarantee this” (Par 263-269). There is emphasis on the necessity to respect “the sacredness of life” (Par 283) where today “some parts of our human family, it appears, can be readily sacrificed”, such as the unborn, the poor, the disabled and the elderly (Par 18).

Chapter Eight: religion and fraternity

In the eighth and final chapter, the Pontiff focuses on “Religions at the service of fraternity in our world” and emphasizes that terrorism is not due to religion but to erroneous interpretations of religious texts, as well as “policies linked to hunger, poverty, injustice, oppression” (Par 282-283). a journey of peace among religions is possible and that it is therefore necessary to guarantee religious freedom, a fundamental human right for all believers (see Par 279).

The Encyclical reflects, in particular, on the role of the Church: she does not “restrict her mission to the private sphere”, it states. While not engaging in politics she does not, however, renounce the political dimension of life itself, attention to the common good and concern for integral human development, according to evangelical principals (see Par 276-278).

Lastly, Francis quotes the “Document on Human Fraternity for World Peace and Living Together”, which he signed on 4 February 2019 in Abu Dhabi, along with the Grand Imam of Al-Azhar, Ahmad Al-Tayyib: from that milestone of interreligious dialogue, the Pontiff returns to the appeal that, in the name of human fraternity, dialogue be adopted as the way, common cooperation as conduct, and mutual knowledge as method and standard (see Par 285)

Bishop John's Monthly Message (October E-News)

My dear brothers and sisters,

I wrote to you in June assuring you of my best wishes and prayers during the pandemic. I continue to pray for the people of the Diocese during this time. As we emerge from the loss, suffering and uncertainty caused by the Coronavirus, we hope in the reality of the risen Lord and continue to respond to His command to St Francis and each of us to 'Rebuild His Church'.

Pope Francis reminds us of the priority of placing the needs of others before our own. We have seen this being expressed in so many ways during this time of pandemic.

Over the past few months, I have seen all around the Diocese a lot of energy being invested in encouraging "spirituality and prayer at home". Thank you for all you are doing. There was the remarkable opinion poll result recently that stated that, prior to the pandemic, 4% of the nation attended religious services and now it is about 25%, using electronic means. If that is true, we may well have a wonderful challenge of welcoming newcomers to our churches as they re-open.

After a period of reflection, and when the time is right, we will launch Stage 4 of our Hope in the Future journey, focussing on 'Proclaiming the Good News'. During this Stage we will be reflecting on how we can develop links between our Schools and Parishes whilst accompanying families. We will consider how we can help everyone to experience the Good News of Jesus Christ who come into contact with our parishes through the celebrations of baptisms, weddings, funerals, RCIA, Christmas and Easter Liturgies.

Stay with us, Lord, on our journey.

BOWLING CLUB

2020 will go down as the season that never was. However the green still needed to be cut and a certain amount of work done around the green. Our thanks must go to Charles and Jean Brown who have worked through very trying times to keep the green open for the few people who have played on it. Thanks also to the other members of our club who have helped in any way this year.

As a reminder of how a season usually ends here is a copy of an entry in News and Views October 1986.

“Poem to Summer Past 1986”

The time has come for Bowlers
all to put away their woods
And think of things they failed to do yet should or would or could.

Three teams we've had in different Leagues two men and one of ladies.

Success was very hard to find ill
luck like unto Hades.

Yet pleasure grand was there to see the grass was green and running.

Good friendships new and old were made sincere for all the funning.

When August came our Race
was run for Winners many prizes.
Both men and women played so well in all our shapes and sizes.

But all is not completed yet our
Dance has still to come.

October seventeen the day,
please come and join the fun.
But all of this would not have been without the Backroom Workers.

Our heartfelt thanks we give to them may you have more supporters.

BROWNEGE CHRISTIANS TOGETHER FOOD BANK

St. Gerard's parishioners have given generous support to the Brownedge Christians Together Food Bank and continue to do so. This is much appreciated by those who have received help with food as a result.

If anyone in the parish should find themselves in need either now or in the coming winter months, please don't hesitate to contact the food bank who never turn away anyone asking them for food. The updated contact details for the Food Bank are displayed in the church porch and are also included in this issue of News and Views.

Please pass on this information to anyone you know who may have need of help with food, including families who may need temporary help during school holiday periods.

AID TO THE CHURCH IN NEED - RED WEDNESDAY

Some of you may have attended the Red Wednesday Mass last year at Brownedge St Mary's to remember all those throughout the world suffering for their belief in Christ.

This year Red Wednesday falls on 25 November and even if you can't attend Mass perhaps you can wear something red that day or place a lighted candle in your window. The following on line events on that Wednesday might be of interest:

- i) "Set your Captives Free" – an update of ACN's current work. 4.30pm – 6.00pm. Available from acnuk.org/rwdigitalevent
- ii) Live-streamed Mass 6.00pm to 7.00pm from Farm Street Church of the Immaculate Conception in prayer and solidarity for our suffering brothers and sisters. Also from the above website.

Around the world countless numbers of Christians are kidnapped, attacked or killed for their faith and millions face discrimination and legal abuse. In India for example in the first 6 months of 2020 there were 293 recorded cases of persecution and five Christians were martyred. Muslims, Sikhs and Christians are seen as members of foreign religions and many of those facing extremist attacks are Dalit ("Untouchable") converts to Christianity.

I recently found a letter sent me in 1987 from Fr John Kitchen in Pakistan. I'd sent him a Christmas message as part of a justice and peace initiative started by former parishioners Jim Miller and Eddie Southworth. The following extract reveals that the problems the church faced then still persist:

"Also we have a programme for the freeing of slave families. We've freed six so far – it's a slow business and causes a lot of trouble but little by little we are succeeding and it's very consoling to see some of the big fine strapping lads now holding their heads up who would have been condemned to slavery with their families until they died. We are trying to pressurize the government to make the system illegal but the government is made up of landowners who need the slaves to work the land cheaply. We are also into literacy programmes, T.B. and health programmes and building here and there."

Fr. John's final words; "Keep praying for us over here."

God bless
Margaret Cronin
